| Nature of Issue:  |  |
| I live in Shakespeare road and cannot, 90% of the time leave my road to join the main Stratford Road using my car. The view is always blocked by large vans making it impossible to see any traffic coming from the right hand side. Parking is permitted along this piece of the road therefore allowing those large vans to obscure the safe vision of drivers attempting to leave Shakespeare road. They, at times, also park very near the corner. My neighbours, who drive, share this concern and several of us experience frequent 'near misses'. It is just a matter of time before there is an accident.     |  |
| How long has it been an issue?  | Approx 2 years   |
| What would you like done to resolve this issue?   |  |
| I would really like people to see for themselves this problem and attempt to drive to my road and exit whilst feeling safe to do so. This would be impossible when the large vans are parked. There, on very rare occasions, are times the vans are not there, but again very rarely is there good vision of oncoming traffic. I, if asked, can provide a photo (each day) from a driver's perspective when attempting to leave. In my opinion. There needs to be some double yellow lines or owners of vehicles made aware of them obstructing another driver safely attempting to use/join a public highway. |  |
